*Making your way in the world today Takes everything you've got.
Taking a break from all your worries
Sure would help a lot.*

Salve Regina

*Wouldn't you like to get away?
Sometimes you want to go where everybody knows your name . . .*

FRIENDS

*As we go down
life's lonesome highway, seems the hardest thing to do is to find a friend or two.*

*That helping hand,
someone who understands.
When you feel
you've lost your way, you've got someone
there to say,
I'll show you.*

*And if I should ever go away
well, then close your eyes and try to feel the way we do today, and then if you can remember.*

KEEP SMILING, KEEP SHINING, KNOWING YOU CAN ALWAYS COUNT ON ME FOR SURE
THAT'S WHAT FRIENDS
ARE FOR.

*For good times
and bad times
I'll be on your side
forever more.
That's what friends
are for.*

*And then for the times
when we're apart
well, then close your eyes and know these words are coming from my heart,
and then if you can remember.*

*Keep smiling. keep shining.
knowing you can always count on me for sure that's what friends are for.*

*For good times
and bad times
I'll be on your side
forever more.
That's what friends are for.*

PARTY ALL THE TIME

PUT ME IN COACH

I'M READY TO PLAY . . .

TO SOMEONE WHO IS BEAUTIFUL . . . ALL OVER

It is absolutely wonderful to have someone in our lives who is caring and giving and gracious - someone whose smiles are like sunshine and laughter and whose words always seem to say the things you most like to hear . . . because those magical people are really beautiful . . . inside.

And it is a special privilege to know someone whose outward appearance is a delight just to see - someone who lights up a room with radiance and who lights up our little corner of the world with a loveliness it has never known before . . . because special people like that are really beautiful . . . outside.

But most of all, it is one of the world's most special blessings to have a person in our lives who can add so much pleasure and such magnificence to the days - as you have to ours . . . because you're someone who is beautiful . . . all over.

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

Sr. Lucille McKillop, R.S.M.
President

May, 1986

Dear Graduates of 1986:

I extend best wishes on the production of the 1986 Salve yearbook, Regina Maris. I congratulate all who shared in fashioning this treasured memento of your Salve experience.

I see a yearbook as more than a record of campus achievement. The photographs and captions will, over the years, awaken vivid memories of personal friendships, group loyalties, student-teacher ties. Your yearbook is like a family album. Only those who shared this lived experience, the joys and sorrows, can fully understand and appreciate what these faces and scenes really signified in the mid-eighties in this little corner of New England.

This Regina Maris is your memory book that will grow in nostalgic value and emotional resonance as time passes. May these campus memories remain ever warm and bright. May the ideals of these years remain ever fresh and persuasive. May the dreams of these days find fulfillment in the beckoning future. May the promise of your yearbook images reach true realization in the great book of life.

Yours sincerely,

As We Go Our Separate Ways

*I don't know what to say . . .
in some ways our time together seems so short;
in other ways,
there was time enough to get to know each other and time to enjoy a relationship.
But there was also time . . .
time enough to change.
Sometimes . . . whether we like it or not, people change and circumstances change . . .
These are the things that we can't do anything about.
But . . . just as the seasons of life change and transcend into something equally as nice,
so, too, do I want the love we had to become the friendship
we'll never lose.*

COMMENCEMENT!

Sr. Lucille McKillop, members of the platform committee, college faculty and staff, fellow students, family, and friends - while we, the class of 1986, have been at Salve Regina College a great deal of public attention has been focused on such issues as nuclear armament, aviation disasters, and especially the famine in Ethiopia. If we look at the tragedies in our world today and feel a sense of helplessness we do ourselves an injustice. Instead, we need to see the seeds of hope. Those who have are helping those who have not. The "Aid" concerts - Farm Aid and Live Aid - are examples of an increased emphasis on human concerns.

We have the responsibility to cultivate the seed of hope. Why are we responsible? Because we, too have in the past been among the hungry. Certainly not for a lack of food, but deprived of many of the qualities and skills we now possess as a result of our years at Salve.

Several years ago we were searching for a place to continue our education. We sought nourishment and guidance. We chose Salve Regina College. Since then we have been sustained by the opportunities for an education - an education that reflected the mission of the College.

How many of us gathered here have really taken the time to understand this mission and yet, how many of us have spent so much of our time achieving it's goal?

To illustrate this, let us now ask ourselves a few questions-

First, have we found truth in our discipline? In other words, have we found meaning and purpose in our study?

Second, have we refined, clarified, and deepened our values? Do we have a clearer understanding of our beliefs and what we want from life?

Third, are we now willing to be a responsible stewards of the world's resources? Can we take all that we have gained here and use it for the betterment of ourselves and our globol family?

How we answer these questions is one measure of how well we have reached some of the goals Salve has set for us. I believe we have accomplished these goals.

While each of us has built a solid foundation with the general education courses, we have also focused our studies in a particular discipline. Together, these curricula have helped us to become critical thinkers. We now know how to utilize the resources available to us to solve problems. We now have a broader understanding of the need to utilize problem solving in meeting the challenges of our daily lives.

We understand that an education without application is devoid of purpose. For this reason we continually offered ourselves and our educations as resources to our local community. We volunteered our time for projects such as the Special Olympics, Dance Marathons, and Big Brothers. We have therefore, fulfilled another goal of the college which is "to recognize its committment as an intellectual community to serve directly the larger community within which it operates."

During our years at Salve we have found nourishment and strength.

Through study and service, we have begun to fulfill the mission of the college. We are nourished, but not yet satiated - the challenge continues. To complete the process we must now take all that we have gained and become stewards of the world's resources. We now have the responsibility to feed others.

The paths we will follow after graduation will differ. For some there will be graduate school, while others will seek positions in chosen careers. Some of us, including me, have chosen the profession of teaching; however, we all will have a responsibility to be educators. We will do this through health care, law enforcement and in the business world. We will ultimately teach the values that we have refined here by living them.

We, the class of 1986, leave Salve Regina with a common goal - to be responsible citizens. And in a society that is more likely to sue than it is to serve, we leave an institution that challenges us to use our education in the service of others. I wish each of you well in meeting this challenge.

Here's What Was Going On In The "Real World" . . .

Space walker James van Hoften stands tall on the end of the robot arm of the Space Shuttle Discovery after successfully launching the repaired Syncom satellite in September.

Ty Cobb's major league record of 4,191 base hits stood unchallenged for a long time. However, at Chicago's Wrigley Field, the forty-four year old player-manager of the Cincinnati Reds, Pete Rose, tied the mark set by Cobb and surpassed the mark in front of his hometown fans, September 11, 1985.

A volcanic eruption in Columbia triggered mud slides and floods killing 25,000 people. A resident of Armero in the Colombian mountains is helped by the Colombian Red Cross during digging out efforts.

The war in the Mid-East continued. A distraught Moslem man hugs his son moments after they survived a car bomb explosion outside a West Beirut restaurant. They are shown being hurried away from the carnage by another man as cars burn in the rubble strewn street.

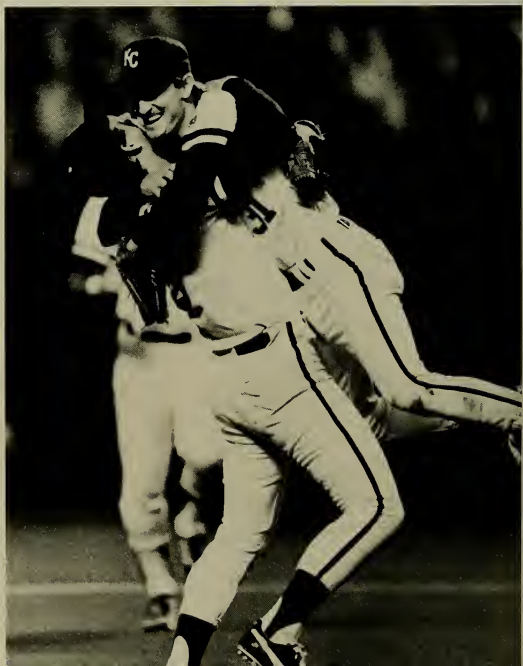

During Our Senior Year!

A series of devastating earthquakes rumbled through Mexico City in September and the death toll was in the thousands. Few in the metropolitan area of 18 million escaped the effects of the first quake, which registered 8.1 on the Richter scale; or the second quake, which measured 7.5.

The Kansas City Royals won the World Series. Royals pitcher Bret Saberhagen embraces third baseman George Brett after pitching a five-hitter to give the Royals the World Series crown over the St. Louis Cardinals. Saberhagen, the winner of two series games, was named as the Most Valuable Player in the series.

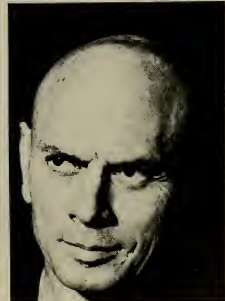

Four Palestinian terrorists hijacked the Italian cruise liner Achille Lauro while on a Mediterranean cruise. One American was killed, Leon Klinghoffer, who was 69 and confined to a wheelchair, shot in the head and back and dumped overboard. After the ship was released the Egyptian government agreed to return the hijackers to the PLO. However, the hijackers were intercepted by American jets as they were flown out of Egypt and returned to Italy to stand trial.

Four prominent actors died in late 1985:

Orson Welles (70) of a heart attack;
Lloyd Nolan (83) after a battle with lung cancer;

Rock Hudson (59) brought AIDS into the spotlight when he acknowledged that he was suffering from the deadly disease which took his life;

Yul Brynner (65) after a battle with cancer.

President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev met at the Chateau Fleur D'Eau and interpreted the world for each other. Among other things, the summit meeting is in part a public ceremony of reassurance and international soothing.

Riots were an almost daily occurrence in South Africa as blacks protested Apartheid. In this photo, a white man runs from jeering group of stone throwing blacks in downtown Johannesburg as widespread violence continued to breakout throughout the country.

A Delta Airlines jetliner crashed near Dallas, killing 137 people. The plane was on a flight from Fort Lauderdale, Florida to Los Angeles with an intermediate stop at Dallas-Fort Worth. Thirty-four people survived but five died of injuries later. The plane encountered a severe wind shear as it plunged to the ground.

Ceremonies were held at various times during the year at the Vietnam Memorial in Washington to commemorate the tenth anniversary of the fall of the Saigon government in Vietnam. The Vietnam Memorial is inscribed with the names of more than 58,000 dead or missing soldiers from the Vietnam War.

For years the space program seemed almost infallible. Twenty-four successful launches in a row helped fuel the overconfidence. But on January 28, the Space Shuttle Challenger exploded only seventy-three seconds after take-off. The explosion was seen on national television, which added to the tragedy of the event.

The death of Christa McAuliffe drew the most national attention. McAuliffe was part of the Teacher in Space program and was very excited about the opportunity to board the Challenger. McAuliffe, a schoolteacher from Concord, New Hampshire, did much to increase students' awareness of the space program and her loss was felt by Americans all over.

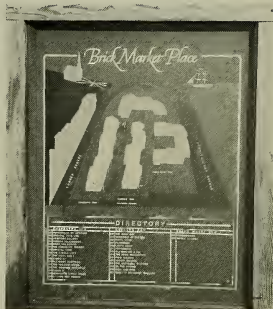

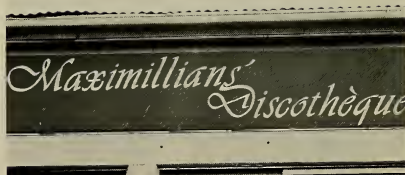

1985 was the year which established Bruce Springsteen as the hottest rock star of the decade. During the previous fifteen months, he toured 62 cities and entertained over 3.5 million of his closest fans. Tickets for the concerts sold at a record pace, while some were willing to pay as much as $2,500 for a pair of front row seats at RFK Stadium in Washington, D.C.
